

Is this website trustworthy?

- Is a group or individual identified as responsible for the website's content?
- Is the group or individual responsible for the website generally known as an authority?
- Does the site include contact information for the responsible group or individual?
- Are the sources of information cited?
- Has the site has been updated in the past six months?
- Does the site have working links to other trustworthy websites?
- Does the site has a .gov or .edu suffix?
- Does the information on the site match other sources?
- Is the main purpose of the site to explain or inform, not persuade or sell products?
- Are there very few grammar and spelling mistakes?